Specialty O-rings offered by Colonial Seal Co

Gloucester City, NJ - Colonial Seal Company, the New Jersey based manufacturer and distributor of standard and custom sealing solutions announces that the company supplies specialty material o-rings used in the pharmaceutical, oil & gas, food & beverage and chemical processing industries. “At Colonial Seal Company we understand that high quality material is critical to these industries where equipment failure can result in personal injury and environmental hazard. We supply sealing solutions in a variety of high performance materials that meet and exceed the demands of high temperature, high pressure and aggressive environments,” says Mr. Stephen Maloney, General Manager, Colonial Seal Company. “Our specialty is large size, high performance elastomers or other unusual o-ring requirements that are compliant with FDA, NSF and MilSpec regulations,” continued Mr. Maloney.

These seals are operational in a variety of equipment including supercritical bioreactors, food processing equipment and chemical process reactors in both static and dynamic applications. Colonial Seal Company supplies these o-rings in a variety of materials from Teflon®, Viton® and Silicone Class VI materials to encapsulated o-rings and sanitary gaskets. The company can also supply unique o-rings such as platinum cured or oxygen cleaned o-rings to meet federal standards. The o-rings are available in AS standard or JIS
